A Year Of Highlights

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Boys & Girls Clubs of Silicon Valley is proud to recognize Isaac as our 2022 Youth of the Year—our organization’s highest honor.

Growing up in south San Jose, in a challenging neighborhood, Isaac felt out of place—and was painfully shy. It was also during this time that his father was diagnosed with a chronic health condition. This was a period of uncertainty and emotional stress for Isaac and the entire family. But as difficult as these experiences were, Isaac found refuge at the Club.

“From the very first day I started coming to the Club, there was a real feeling of warmth and acceptance. Two things you associate with a family,” Isaac says. “The gentle and patient way staff nurtured me and encouraged me while also participating in engaging activities—like science, arts, sports—I began to feel a sense of confidence. I was learning, and I was growing. The Club has gave me hope - and opportunity.

90% of members report that the program improved or sustained their ability to make healthful lifestyle choices that nurture their personal well-being.

99% of members report that the program improved or sustained their ability to make informed and important choices.

97% of middle & high school aged members abstained from substance use and other high risk activities.

99% of members report that the program improved or sustained their divergent and lateral thinking skills and their desire to express themselves creatively.

93% of members, who are not high school seniors, plan to graduate from high school and attend college or a technical program.
